Zeyad,

We have verified and fixed the poodle SSL vulnerability that you reported.

I'd like to send you an edX T-shirt as thanks for reporting this issue.

If you're interested, I'll need your mailing address and a phone number to ensure delivery.

We would also like to publicly credit you with discovering these bugs. How would you like us to attribute the bugs to you?

Best,

Ed.

Hi,

We are preparing to implement it but it will take us some time. I would expect that we have this kind of 'thank-you' list for security researchers implemented in Q2 of 2015. Be assured that you will find your name there as we have it ready if you would agree to that. For now could you provide me your postal address for us to send you some tangible thank-you item?

Hello Monosec15,

We wanted to update you on the issues you've reported.

Item 1. The fix to the situation you identified is now live in the production code.
Item 3. Will be fixed and prioritized accordingly.

The other issues (2, 4, 5) have been explained in our earlier messages to you.

We would like to show you our appreciation by sending you some Edmodo "goodies" as a token of our appreciation. If you are interested in receiving those goodies, please let us know your shirt size and how we can send them to you, and we'll take care of the rest. When giving us your address please include a phone number which we need for the shipping documentation. Please format your address for us below so we are sure to enter it correctly on the shipping documents:
